ChildCareRatingz.com Lets Parents Share Recommendations!

SUNNYVALE, Calif., September 8, 2006 – Recognizing the growing need for quality child care, RatingzSM Inc announces the creation of a new website, ChildCareRatingz.com, where parents can share information about their child care experiences. This free site allows anyone to post and read independent reviews for child care providers and day care centers throughout the United States. The site allows parents to anonymously rate child care providers on five different criteria, including staff, facilities, activities, personal attention and monetary value, and provides an area for comments.

"We've built many sites for rating various services, including realtors, mechanics, and lawyers, but we were really surprised at the rapid success of our CampRatingz.com website, launched in April. We realized that parents have a real need to share information about parenting resources, and child care is obviously a very important need." stated Bob Nicholson, VP of Marketing. "Our goal is to let parents to talk to one another and share their experiences, rather than relying on the biased, industry-funded referral sites."

RatingzSM Inc is a California-based internet consumer ratings company, best known for its ratings and reviews of service providers and premise-based businesses. The company's software was produced by Internet entrepreneur John Swapceinski, founder of RateMyProfessors.com and co-founder of RateMyTeachers.com and RateMDs.com.
